I'm looking forward to _____!!

I am looking forward to many things. I am definitely looking forward to graduating from high school and finally being done with school! Yet before school is over, there are a few other things that I am going to look forward to this year.

School has been "just school" these past thirteen years with its ups and down's! I have attended Juniata my whole life, except third grade, and have sat through all of the tedious classes and have done ALL of the homework assignments and have watched each and every class before me graduate, while I waited and dreamed of when it would finally be my turn. Well, no more waiting and dreaming because 2012 is my year! It is finally my turn to graduate! Sure, I will miss high school at times and will wish I could go back to being a kid every once in a while, but as of right now, I cannot wait to graduate.

But before I graduate, I still have my senior trip to look forward to as well as many other privileges that we as seniors get the chance and opportunity to do. On our senior trip, we will get to see historical landmarks and experience history in a way that we may never have the chance to do again. We will make many memories as a class that we will never forget and that will stay with us as we move on in life and go our separate ways. Going our separate ways is the reason I am not looking forward to the end of this year.

Even though I am not looking forward to my classmates and I going our separate ways after high school and maybe never seeing each other again, I still cannot wait to graduate and move on with my life wherever it will lead me. These are just a few things that I am looking forward to this year!

Happy Birthday Mikayla & Destiny!

Mikayla is turning 14 and Destiny will be 18. Have a great birthday!

CHRISTMAS BASKET FOOD DRIVE-

11/28-12/13

JCS will be preparing about 6 Christmas baskets to be sent to needy families in the area. We are asking the students to bring non-perishable items to put in the baskets. An offering will be taken in high school chapel each week for perishable items. All donations are appreciated.

Holiday Gift Shop

Thanks to Tonya Karpovich & Shelli Colosky for helping this year.

THE NEXT CONTEST DEADLINE IS JANUARY 11. KEEP SENDING IN THE LABELS AND BOX TOPS!

Winter Concert

The winter concert is on Dec. 13 at 7:00 p.m. in the church auditorium. The JCS high school choir and the JCS Concert Band will perform several Christmas songs. The elementary band will also be performing. Girls will be wearing long black skirts and sweaters. Boys will be wearing black pants, white-collared shirts and sweaters. Students should be in the auditorium at 6:30 p.m. unless instructed otherwise.
